

The Lady Anatomist and her successors

The art of anatomic wax modeling
and its significance for today

The Lady Anatomist and her successors

The art of anatomic wax modeling
and its significance for today

When

13th June 2024, 5.00 p.m.

Where

Josephinum – Medical History Museum Vienna,
Währinger Straße 25, 1090 Wien
Lecture Hall

Program

5.00 p.m. Welcome and Introduction

Christiane Druml, Josephinum – Medical History Museum Vienna

5.30 p.m. Mothers of Anatomical Modeling

Rebecca Messbarger, Washington University, St. Louis

6.00 p.m. Touching Hands. Wax models of a sensitive body part

Thomas Schnalke, Berlin Museum of Medical History

6.20 p.m. Florentine anatomical models and other wax objects at the Josephinum – Modeling techniques and conservation strategies

Martina Peters, Josephinum – Medical History Museum Vienna

6.40 p.m. “Quivering baroque life paired with classicist forms” –

Anatomical wax reliefs around 1800 in an art-historical context

Daniela Hahn, Josephinum – Medical History Museum Vienna

7.20 p.m. Panel Discussion

8.00 p.m. Introduction & Movie Presentation „Königin der Leichen – Die Anatomistin Anna Morandi“, Universum History Documentation (in German)

Iris Fegerl, freelance director & scriptwriter, Berlin

Registration: einladungen@josephinum.ac.at